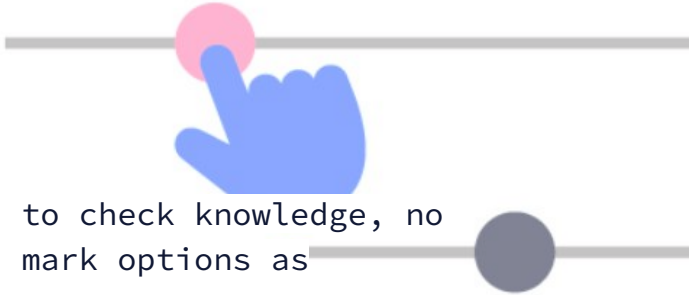
Mentimeter

- A free online tool that develops and creates presentations, surveys, quizzes, check-ins, exit slips etc.
- Offers texted based modes as visuals
  - Diagrams, charts, and graphs
- This mode of delivery can help learners understand relationships, patterns, and hierarchies more clearly through text alone.
  It is Participatory, interactive, and Fun!

Popular features:



Multiple choice: Great for polling audience preferences or to check knowledge, no matter the size of your group. You can even add images and mark options as correct!

Scales: With Scales, you can let participants rate multiple options or statements—perfect for gathering feedback quickly or for checking in on your team.

Wordcloud: Collect responses and highlight the most common ones in a beautiful word cloud. A very popular way to start or end a session.

Open ended: Participants respond to a question using free text. A great way to voice honest thoughts and opinions.

Quiz: Whether it's part of a larger presentation, as a short energizer, or to test your audience's knowledge, a Mentimeter quiz is the perfect way to bring out a competitive spirit and create a fun experience.

Menti can be used at the start of a unit to identify prior knowledge and use student interest to curate subjects for the rest of the unit.

English

In the context of an English class, word clouds are extremely useful as a brainstorming activity. When discussing the literary elements of a novel, asking students to put their ideas into a word cloud on mentimeter is a low-stress way for students to share with the class.

Spanish

At the beginning of the term I would use Menti's Scale feature to gauge student's knowledge level on a variety of skills to see what they remember from their previous language classes. This tool will be excellent for a quick snapshot of where students are at in their language learning journey, or in any class that involves cumulative content.

Art

In the context of an Art classroom, I would consider using the Course Evaluation Survey option from Menti to gather feedback as im building my units as a new teacher. I focused on developing a unit on Abstract Painting, and I could use Menti assess whether or not my students found the unit engaging, accessible, fun, relevant etc…
